Courtney that the Ithaca oarsmen will hereafter use the Kerns' swivel oar handle in all their races. Perhaps the advantage gained by this handle—five inches greater length, of the oar and a more free use of the outer shoulder and arm muscles—will regain for Cornell the prestage lost at Poughkeepsie during the past two years when Syracue and Columbia in turn carried off the honohs in the championship event.

The handle attaches to a regulation sweep oar, making it the width of a hand longer and affording a better grip for the outside hand. The inside hand will feather the oar as usual. Coach Courtney has been making experiments with these handles adcording to Kerns, and found that the crew using them was sound to a regulation of the same that the crew using them was sound to a regulation for Smith in 3rd.

OLYMPIC GAMES OF 1916. The Big Meet is Scheduled For Germany But the War Likely to Interfere.

For the sake of the Olympic games scheduled for the summer of 1916, the athletic authorities of this country, as well as of the whole world are praying for a speed yending of the international war raging in Europe, says Edward R. Bushnell. If the war should last for two years, or though concluded in shorter time, should result in many fatalities, it would either compel Germany to abandon the games altogether or to postpone them a year or two.

There would be a precedent for this in the case of Greece in 1910. In 1966 the Greeks started an Olympic cycle

There would be a precedent for this in the case of Greece in 1916. In 1906 the Greeks started an Olympic cycle of their own for the purpose of revising athletic sports in that country. The set of games held that year came midway between the regular cycle of games held at St. Louis in 1904 and those scheduled for London in 1908. Although they were held with the sanction of the International Olympic council, they were not official Olympic council, they were not official Olympic pic sports. At the same time they pic sports. At the same time they were well patronized by the athetic nations of the world. So successful were the 1906 sports in Athens that the Greeks announced a similar set for 1910, and the United States and most of the European countries promised to send teams. In 1909 Greece became involved in trouble with Turkey and the games had to be abancars. key and the games had to be aban- cans.

Not since the Olympic games were revived in 1896 has there been any war involving enough countries to interfere with these games. Frequently some of the countries have had sofe internation troubles but not enough to those parts not long ago.—Charleston
